Customer Experiences

Contagious Media, LLC

Planet Media's team of professionals helped us create a custom designed editable website for our Charter School client in Denver. They were easy to work with and assisted us in developing a sophisticated editing backend to the website that was exactly what our client needed - with no compromises. We especially appreciated their attention to the detail of this project, their timeliness, and full competence in programming all the components per our scope of work. Our client is extremely happy with their web site and that's the best compliment we can share. We certainly look forward to our next project with Planet Media.

Wine Country Helicopters

"A friend referred me to Planet Media. They were not only helpful and professional, but patient and understanding all along the way. For a computer neophyte, they walked me through the process. I am very impressed with their work, and highly recommend them".

*Wayne Lackey – President
Wine Country Helicopters - Napa, California*

Applied Logical Methods

"Kurt and his organization, Planet Media, have redesigned my web page twice since I moved it from my original provider, and have significantly raised the quality and functionality each time. They have provided original ideas and responded quickly to any questions."

*Duke Okes - Knowledge Architect for Quality Management
Applied Logical Methods - Johnson City, Tennessee*
